Use of Google Analytics for web analytics

This website uses Google Analytics, a web analytics service provided by Google, Inc. (www.google.de). Google Analytics uses "cookies", which are text files placed on your computer, to help the website analyze how users use the site. The information generated by the cookie about your use of the website will generally be transmitted to and stored by Google on servers in the United States. If IP anonymisation is activated on this website, however, Google will shorten your IP address beforehand within member states of the European Union or in other contracting states of the Agreement on the European Economic Area. Only in exceptional cases will the full IP address be transmitted to a Google server in the USA where it will be shortened. IP anonymization is active on this website. On behalf of the operator of this website, Google will use this information to evaluate your use of the website, to compile reports on website activity and to provide other services relating to website activity and internet usage to the website operator. The IP address transmitted by your browser as part of Google Analytics is not combined with other data from Google. You may refuse the use of cookies by selecting the appropriate settings on your browser, however please note that if you do this you may not be able to use the full functionality of this website. You may also refuse the use of cookies by selecting the appropriate settings on your browser, which will prevent the collection of data by Google from the cookie and related to your use of the website (including your IP address), and the processing of such data by Google, by downloading and installing the browser plug-in available from the following link: <https://tools.google.com/dlpage/gaoptout?hl=de=en>

Privacy statement for the use of Hotjar

We use Hotjar software (<https://www.hotjar.com>, 3 Lyons Range, 20 Bisazza Street, Sliema SLM 1640, Malta, Europe) to improve the user experience on our website. Using Hotjar we can measure and evaluate the user behaviour (mouse movements, clicks, scroll height etc.) on our websites. For this purpose, Hotjar uses cookies on user devices and may store user data such as browser information, operating system, time spent on the site, etc. in anonymous form. You can prevent this data processing by Hotjar by deactivating the use of cookies in the settings of your web browser and deleting active cookies. More about Hotjar's data processing can be found here.

Cookie hint

We use so-called cookies for data collection and storage. Cookies are small data packages that your browser stores in your end device at our request. They do not cause any damage there. They do not contain viruses and do not allow us to spy on you. Two types of cookies are used. Temporary cookies are automatically deleted when you close your browser (session cookies). Permanent cookies, on the other hand, enable them to be recognized when you leave the website when you call them up again. Cookies enable us to track your usage behaviour for the above-mentioned purposes and to the corresponding extent. They should also enable you to surf our website more efficiently. We also collect this data only in anonymous form. You can set your Internet browser so that our cookies cannot be stored on your end device or cookies that have already been stored are deleted. Under data protection, see the link below, you will find a list of the various types of cookies used on our website, as well as a brief explanation of their respective purpose.

Information on online dispute resolution

Consumers have the possibility to complain to the EU Online Dispute Resolution Platform: ec.europa.eu. You can also send any complaints to the e-mail address given above.
